Heat Wave Cocktail

And so... we find ourselves drumming past the beginning of a new year... past the heat and the flies, past the back-to-school surge and the off-to-Varsity goodbyes, (New Year's Resolutions long forgotten!) and hanging on to the last balmy weekend afternoons by the braai...

We are revamping the website during the next couple of weeks! (sigh) meantime... visit our blog at www.afroboer.co.za and linger into the sunset-afternoon-glow with some cocktail sparkle

Tis the Month of Love

Have you made someone you love a cup of tea lately... its the small things that matter, its actually quite easy to show someone you care...

Shedding The Load Rant

If by now (I know you're out there!) there is a secret panel of qualified experts coming up with; no wait: implementing sustainable working solutions with regards to moving the country, - or at least the small to medium enterprises that seems to be sustaining the fragile current economic structure - forward into the future, or as early as next week (or at least in my lifetime still!) with some sort of light, lights, lighting, (lightning?!)... please - send me that group info or WhatsApp link... feels like I'm being kept in the dark without those details...!
